IN MEMORIAM.

Elisba P. Holden.

In loving memory of our dear brother, Elisba P. Holden, who died on Nov. 23d, 1921, aged 32 years.

Dearest brother, thou art gone, but not forgotten—

Never shall his memory fade; Sweetest thoughts shall ever linger 'Round the grave where he is laid.

Dearest idol of my heart, We shall meet beyond the river, where we nevermore shall part.

It was hard for us to part, And so sad to see him die, But we all hope to meet him again Some sweet day, bye and bye.

So farewell, dear brother; Sweet thy rest will ever be; When we pass beyond the border We your happy face shall see.

Farewell! till in that happy land, Where gladness hearts are gathering now, We meet and clasp thee by the hand, And press a kiss upon thy brow. (adv*) M. W.

LOCAL NEWS NOTES OF SENECA.

Pleasures for Young Folks Home from College—Other Items.

Seneca, Dec. 27.—Special: Mrs. T. L. Strubling visited relatives in Due West during Christmas.

Mrs. Ralph Ramsour will be hostess to the Once-a-Week Club Thursday afternoon.

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church will hold the first meeting of the new year next Wednesday afternoon in the church.

An enjoyable morning party of the past week was given Thursday morning, when Miss Nell Hines entertained about one dozen friends at a card party. Mrs. L. W. Wyly, making the highest score, was awarded the prize. Cards were laid aside for a time while a pleasant hour was given over to conversation around the lunch table while a chicken salad course, was served. Those who attended the party were Mesdames Ralph Ramsour, Gordon Carson, R. D. Neill, L. D. Wyly, Richardson, and Misses Louise Dendy and Rebecca Todd.

Mrs. L. D. Wyly was hostess Saturday afternoon, when she entertained in honor of her friend, Mrs. F. B. Adams, of Columbia. After the arrival of the guests they were asked to write their favorite recipe for a Christmas dinner, which were compiled between hand-painted covers, representing a red Christmas bell. This was presented to the honoree. Miss Louise Dendy gave several humorous readings, which were thoroughly enjoyed. A salad course, followed by minis, was served.

Malcom Dickson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Pat Dickson, from near Seneca, made a brief visit to Seneca during the holidays, which he is spending with his homefolks. Malcom has numerous friends in Seneca who always give him a hearty hand-clasp when he visits here. He is one of Oconee's most promising young men. He entered the Theological Seminary in Columbia in the fall, preparatory to entering the ministry of the Presbyterian church.

The past week has been unusually full of social activities, and from all indications there will be no cessation in the social life during the remainder of the Christmas holidays, while the college girls and boys are home. There have been a number of attentions shown them.

A pleasant social affair the early part of the week was given Monday afternoon, with Miss Typhaine Burgess as the gracious hostess. About one round dozen of her closest friends spent a most delightful time together. After they assembled a clever contest was entered. When time was called Miss Louise Dendy stood first in having made the most words out of "Merry Christmas." A miniature Christmas tree was then brought in and placed on the table, and there was renewed merriment and laughter when each guest was presented with a horn, which they tested as to who could produce the most music (?). Black fruit cake, chocolate and nuts were served. Miss Burgess was assisted in serving by her mother, Mrs. J. H. Burgess.

The high school girls and boys are enjoying the holiday season to the fullest extent. The Parent-Teacher Association have undertaken to look after their pleasure, and there will be given a series of parties for them in the homes of members, and by grades. We have been informed that Mrs. F. S. Holleman and Mrs. Ben Harper each entertained a grade on Monday night. Mrs. E. C. Doyle will see that another grade will have a good time Tuesday night, while Mrs. C. M. Bowen and Mrs. L. C. Garrison will entertain Wednesday and Thursday nights, respectively, and Mrs. J. J. Cromer will bring the series of Christmas parties for the larger school pupils to a close with a party Friday night.

The Baptist Sunday school observed Christmas day with a beautiful and appropriate program Sunday morning in the church. At the evening hour for worship the Presbyterian Sunday school rendered their Christmas program, which was carried out almost altogether by the children's division of the Sunday school. An impressive feature of the program was a pageant, "The Day's Come," which was most creditably presented by G. W. Gignilliat, Misses Leola Hines, Frances Hollenman and Lillian Meyers. The programs and music at both churches were appropriate and most delightful. Special mention should be made, however, of the exceptionally splendid music at the Presbyterian church, and it was heard by an appreciative audience. The churches were filled to capacity on both occasions.

Miss Typhaine Burgess will leave to-day (Wednesday) for Maryland, where she has accepted the responsible position of dietician for the hospital. Miss Burgess is well qualified to fill the position, having graduated in June from Winthrop, specializing on dietetics and taking a post graduate course from Johns Hopkins in the fall. The best wishes of a host of friends attend Miss Burgess in her work.

LOCAL NEWS FROM FAIR PLAY.

Charming Entertainment for Young Bride—Visitors Here and There.

Fair Play, Dec. 24.—Special: Quite a number of the ladies of our town enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. C. P. Glenn on Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 21st, from 3 to 5 o'clock, when she entertained with a linen shower in honor of Mrs. Purcell Bruce, a recent bride, who was before marriage Miss Inez Richardson. Misses Marie Grubbs and Elise Richardson were in the receiving line, inviting the guests into the lovely parlors, which were beautiful in Christmas decorations, ferns and cut flowers. After the guests had all been seated a very interesting troupeau contest was engaged in, the lucky winners of the prize for answering all questions in the contest being Mrs. T. U. Mitchell and Miss Sue Perkins, who were presented a nice pair of towels. This booty, a toy drum, fell to Mrs. Fred Grubbs and Mrs. W. L. Dowis. Misses Marie Grubbs and Clarkie Link played beautiful piano selections throughout the afternoon, which added much to the enjoyment of the occasion. While all were busy giving the young bride advice, in came little Misses Ione Glenn and Eva Nell Dowis, bearing a holly tree burdened with many beautiful as well as useful gifts, these being presented the fair bride, and were opened by her and admired by all present, much lovely handwork being displayed. After each one had admired the dainty gifts the charming hostess, assisted by Mrs. S. L. Leathers, served a delicious sweet course. Those present were Mesdames Maggie Richardson, Tor Bruce, L. M. Glymph, M. G. Glymph, Allen Glymph, J. S. Glymph, W. L. Dowis, S. L. Leathers, M. E. Harris, D. V. Wright, Lucy C. King, T. U. Mitchell, B. F. Grubbs, Fred Grubbs, T. A. Durham, and Misses Marie Grubbs, Elise Richardson, Sue Perkins, Clarkie Link. All felt reluctant in bidding adieu, Mrs. Glenn being an ideal hostess, and the afternoon was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

We are glad to learn that little Francis Sheldon, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Sheldon, is improving, after a serious attack of double pneumonia.

Miss Lil Thompson is spending the holidays with her sister in Selma, Ala.

The faculty of the high school here have left for their respective homes to spend the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Meares celebrated their first wedding anniversary on Sunday, Dec. 18th. The day was enjoyed by quite a number of friends and relatives.
